12. Corroborate the content of the course with the expectations of representatives of employers and representative professional associations in the field of the program, as well as with the current state of knowledge in the scientific field approached and practices in higher education institutions in the European Higher Education Area (EHEA)

In today's society, where the labor market is increasingly demanding, the competencies of the modern engineer cannot be limited to technical and scientific aspects; it is also absolutely necessary to develop practical skills in marketing, to form and use an appropriate managerial language, and to understand the complexity of the economic and business environment.

The course responds concretely to these current needs for development and evolution, aiming to explain, understand, and correctly acquire the concepts and terminology used in the marketing management of various structures in the economic environment.
